STATEMENT

The article entitled "Assessment of Moroccan physicians' knowledge and practices concerning the impact of maternal obesity on childhood obesity: Implications for prevention and intervention" elucidates the results of a study carried out in close partnership with the Association des Médecins [ACHAS]. All those interviewed for the survey are active members of this professional association. This collaborative initiative was put in place to ensure rigorous ethical and professional standards in the research process.

Our survey was conducted anonymously among members of the association with which we collaborated. The data collected was completely anonymous and did not allow us to identify the participants. We therefore considered that the anonymous nature of the survey meant that formal consent was not applicable.

We have taken steps to guarantee data confidentiality and ensure that participants’ responses are treated confidentially and securely.
