Respected Editor, thank you for sending over this manuscript for review. Please find my comments as follow: I completely agree with the points raised in this letter to editor. One critical point that is not raised and should be added is that the biggest limitation of the case report oc CMT1X is that it is a case report, which can only comment on a POSSIBLE association. It can in no capacity comment on causation, either confirmed or possible. To confirm a causation a case control study will be needed. To propose a causation a cross sectional study showing a temporal association is needed. Hence in a case report even a proposition of causation cannot be given. I recommend authors to ponder on this and possibly add it in the letter if they agree.

Thank you for this valuable point. It was added to the discussion.
