SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS
Please edit the manuscript doc file -- I couldn't open it with regular WORD software of TextEditor. Only Mac preview worked somehow. Also CARE checklist seems empty - please fill it in!

SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS

The authors reported a 23-year-old woman with SLE complicated with a rare pseudo-pseudo Meigs’ syndrome. As the authors mentioned, this complication is worth publication. I have several concerns which should be addressed adequately.

1. English editing remains rather poor. Current presentation is totteringly.
2. The etiology of her hydronephrosis and hydroureter should be represented. Since she developed lupus enteritis, I wonder if she had lupus cystitis at that time. The association of lupus enteritis and lupus cystitis has already been reported and well known. The authors should discuss this issue.
3. The abstract should be rewritten focusing on the core tip of this case report.

SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS
The revised MS is much improved. However, the style of Ref. papers are somewhat strange. This should be corrected to universal standard style.
