

Our study utilizes the Global Burden of Disease (GBD) database, which is primarily a secondary data analysis. Given that this research does not involve new data collection or experimental design, we have not engaged in a formal biostatistical review process.

As our analysis is based on established data from the GBD database, the requirement for a Biostatistics Review Certificate is not applicable in this case.