SPECIFIC COMMENTS TO AUTHORS
This review “Breast cancer in schizophrenia could be IL-33-mediated” describes a detailed association between breast cancer and mental illnesses as schizophrenia, analyzing a molecular biomarker (IL-33) which could play a role in the genesis of breast cancer in this type of patients. I consider that this manuscript is publishable in the World Journal of Psychiatry after some minor revision. I am pleased to suggest this manuscript for publication in the journal if my additional suggestions are incorporated. I made some suggestions in order to support the manuscript.
